STUDENT VETERANS

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) knows that Veterans, transitioning Service members, and those in the Active Reserve and National Guard are proven performers. That's why VA wants to hire you and help you build a thriving career, serving with and for Veterans.

Disabled and non-disabled Veterans work throughout VA. They counsel returning Service members and adjust families to post-military life. They are doctors, health technicians, budget analysts, and information technology specialists. No matter what you do at VA, your service continues on behalf of your fellow Veterans and their families.

WORK WITH AND FOR THE PEOPLE YOU KNOW BEST. START YOUR CAREER AT VA.

- A job where you can apply your skills. Many VA positions demand skills you gained in the military or are developing in school. Use VA's military skills translator tool to explore your civilian career options. Research open VA positions, evaluate your personal strengths, identify civilian competencies, and match the results to your ideal career.

- A career where your success is our goal. VA advocates for you and all Veterans working at VA. VA for Vets facilitates the reintegration, retention, and hiring of Veterans; it's your gateway to a rewarding career serving our nation's Veterans. The program offers career-search tools for Veterans seeking employment at VA, career development services for our existing Veterans, and coaching and reintegration support for military Service members. You can also use the tools at MyCareer@VA to further your training and advancement.
- An employer who is determined to hire and retain Veterans. VA offers hiring preferences to many qualified Service members in transition, including those with a service-connected disability and other honorably discharged Veterans. If you are disabled, you'll get the tools and accommodations you need to excel at work. And if you remain in the Active Reserve and National Guard, you'll receive an extra 15 days of annual leave to fulfill your service duties.
- Work with and for Veterans and their families. At VA, you're a Veteran serving Veterans. You'll join the more than 100,000 former Service members providing medical, financial, and memorial services to the nation's Veterans and their families.
